Step Aside: The importance of side-stepping for children with Neurodisability

Hip displacement is one of the most common issues affecting children with a neurodisability warranting continuous monitoring and carefully planned interventions, to prevent secondary complications and aid joint development. In typically developing children, cruising and side-stepping strengthens hip muscles, aiding hip joint development and acting as an important precursor for independent mobility.

Children with additional needs often require extra input to strengthen their hip abductor muscles. In this talk, we'll explore how side-stepping movements contribute to improving hip strength, gait and overall function. Practical strategies and helpful tips will be discussed, with handouts and resources available for all attendees.

Learning Outcomes:

The Bugzi Loan Scheme has recently expanded into Bugzi School Squads. This seminar will ensure the attendee understands:

- What is Bugzi.
- How the Bugzi Loan Scheme works.

A 'common sense' approach to adaptive seating: Consideration of sensory needs

In this seminar we will provide an overview of sensory needs and impairments in the children we care for, and discuss how often we truly factor these needs in the prescription of adaptive seating.

Do we consider the prescription of adaptive seating in children with sensory processing disorders but minimal physical impairment?

Do we factor sensory impairment in children with complex physical needs when tailoring their individualised seating system?

We will discuss the relationship between sensory disorders, posture and function, and the significance of this to successful seating provision. This seminar is suitable for parents, carers, and professionals.
