Welcome

We are delighted to welcome you to Kidz to Adultz Wales & West 2025. Thank you to all of our visitors and exhibitors for continuing to make each event so special.

We hope you have a great day!

Specialist seminars

For parents, carers and professionals. An opportunity to update your knowledge and for professionals to boost their CPD. Entry is free but spaces are limited, so we recommend arriving early.

Everyone is welcome

It's an inclusive event! All family members are welcome to join in the fun.

Support and services

Connect with services and organisations which can help you with education, funding, transition, legal matters, and much more.

It's also an opportunity to meet up, network and make new friends.

Dedicated exhibitors

Specialist exhibitors showcasing an array of equipment, products, services and more. Check out the floorplan and our A-Z exhibitor list.

Important Event Information

You can always find a member of the Kidz to Adultz team at the event reception, or just look for anyone wearing a Kidz to Adultz uniform.

Evacuation

If an announcement is made to evacuate the venue, please leave by the nearest fire exit and/or as instructed by the fire marshals, venue staff or a member of the Kidz to Adultz Team. DO NOT re-enter the building unless instructed to do so.

First aid/medically trained staff

If you require medical assistance please report to the Kidz to Adultz main registration area and speak to any member of the Kidz to Adultz team (easily recognisable by their Kidz to Adultz uniform) or a member of the venue security team.

Accessible Toilets

Located along the concourse outside the main exhibition hall. There are also toilets behind the main registration area and in the changing places facility (see details below). See floorplan on page 11

Changing Places Facility

The changing facility is located through the main venue entrance doors, to the left and down the corridor on the right. If you enter the venue via the lifts from the car park, the changing place facility is past the registration area to the right and is clearly signposted.

Seating and Catering

A range of hot and cold food, drinks, snacks and sandwiches are available to purchase. Seating and catering areas are located to the left towards the rear of the exhibition hall.

Card payments

ICC Wales is a cashless venue - card payments only!

An occupational therapy approach to managing and promoting bladder and bowel health Research shows that while occupational therapists aim to take a person-centred and holistic approach, not all feel confident or have the right skills to assess and support people with bladder and bowel problems. Furthermore, there is limited evidence of past service user involvement in the management of such health conditions.

This seminar will explore existing evidence and examine the role of occupational therapists in bladder and bowel management, highlighting their valuable contribution to the multidisciplinary team. Attendees will gain increased knowledge and understanding of the OT's vital role in promoting bladder and bowel health, as well as the importance of a co-productive approach to managing health conditions.

Troubles with toilet training

Toilet training can be challenging for parents and children, but is an important self-care skill. Understanding about how best to support children to develop required skills has evolved and includes an increased awareness of some specific issues.

issues and communication styles. It will also offer suggestions for techniques to support children achieve their potential to be clean and dry.

This seminar will discuss some of the difficulties, including - different processing, sensory issues, mobility

The seminar is relevant for families and professionals supporting children with any additional need or disability, including due to autism, developmental differences, learning or physical disability.

Understanding autism and neurodivergence

Clinical professionals from Caudwell Children's Specialist Autism Service will present a popular seminar which includes:

- An introduction to Autism - including examples of autistic experience, and indicators to look out for.
- Autism as a neurotype - introducing the concept of neurodiversity and natural variation in humans, including recognition of other neurotypes (e.g. ADHD).
- Assessment and diagnosis - a brief outline of the assessment process and considerations for families and professionals about when/how to refer for assessment.

- Strategies for supporting autistic and neurodivergent children - including communication tools, creating structure and predictability, emotional regulation strategies, adapting the environment and supporting acceptance and understanding. Ultimately equipping families and professionals alike to better understand and support neurodivergent children.

Supporting the mental health of individuals with multiple communication needs

Recent research indicates that the rate of mental health issues is much higher among those with complex communication needs (Watson, Reghavendra & Crocker, 2021). This group are more likely to experience abuse, stress, anxiety, and ableism, which can contribute significantly to mental health issues. During this talk we will cover ways we can best support and safeguard people who use AAC, so that they have access to and understand how and when to use language to discuss their mental health and wellness.

-Discover vocabulary that can help AAC users engage in fruitful communication with others about their mental state and engage in self-talk.

-Learn about tools to support AAC users to build and maintain relationships. For example, ways to access online discussions or social media, send emails and make calls with their device, and maintain conversations with peers.

-Understand how the absence of mental health vocabulary may result in AAC users being under-identified with mental health conditions and subsequently deprived of access to important supports and therapy.

Understanding and supporting behaviour

Participants will be able to develop their understanding of various types of behaviour exhibited by children and young people, as well as potential underlying causes by the end of the session. They will understand the roles that sensory dysregulation and executive dysfunction play in behaviour as well as differences seen within ADHD and autism.

Additionally, they will acquire practical and readily applicable strategies to assist in promoting behaviour regulation in children and young people, as well as supporting adults in facilitating realistic behaviour change in collaboration with the individual.

12:00pm

Understanding family sleep – managing sleep disruption (a behavioural approach)

When someone in your household has disrupted sleep, everyone is affected. This presentation aims to help parents and carers understand the medical, environmental and social factors that can impact duration and quality of sleep. We will introduce a behavioural approach to tackling sleep problems and signpost participants to areas for further support and advice.

At the end of this seminar delegates will:

- Have an introductory level understanding of the issues impacting family sleep
- Have an increased understanding of the issues that may be impacting sleep in their own households
- Know the key principles of adopting a behavioural approach
- Have a list of resources to take away for further support

Quality of life and childhood disability

Achieving the best Quality of Life possible should be at the forefront of all decisions regarding a child's health.

This interactive session explores what Quality of Life (QoL) in childhood disability means to different people, illustrated by comments from an international group of children and young people.

We look at how families and medical professionals can collaborate to set QoL goals using the 'F-words' and link this with the International Classification of Functioning, Disability and Health framework (ICF - World Health Organisation).

Examples of how QoL can be measured and the value of this will also be discussed.
