Onwards and upwards: Supported standing and stepping in complex paediatric physical disability

This seminar will discuss the importance of supported standing and stepping for children with complex physical disability. These children are the most marginalised in society, and it is pivotal they are supported to be active, have fun, participate, learn and socialise. Recent innovations in supported standing and stepping devices have made it possible for children with even the most complex disabilities to continue standing and mobilising.

We want to re-frame the benefits of standing frame and adaptive walking frame use, approaching their use holistically and with child-centred thinking.

12:00pm

Unleashing the power of language with AAC

Language is more than words, it's how we connect, learn, grow, and stay safe. For many disabled children and adults, Augmentative and Alternative Communication (AAC) is the key that unlocks this vital part of being human.

In this session, we'll explore how AAC can bring language to life for those who cannot always rely on speech. We'll discuss why language access is not a luxury, but a fundamental right, one that empowers individuals to express who they are, build relationships, and navigate the world on their own terms.

1:00pm Sling Selection

This session will cover all the factors that should be considered when prescribing a sling for a client. It will include sling sizing, hoist/sling compatibility, the transfer being executed, client's presentation (medical needs, postural needs, skin integrity, fluctuating condition, size and shape), LOLER, what to include on the handling plan and wider considerations.

Delegates who are professionals will be able to integrate the information to inform their assessments and prescription, ensuring they are following best practice. Parents, carers and others will have an understanding of all the factors the professional has to consider in the assessment process to help them better understand why a particular sling has been prescribed. They will also be able to use this information to inform the professional involved in the care of the individual if they feel current prescription is no longer meeting need or LOLER requirements.

A range of practical, sensory-based strategies and resources that can be used within the classroom will be explored, outlining how they can support individual children and their specific needs.

Finally, the seminar will cover approaches for creating a universally inclusive, sensory-friendly classroom environment that gives children the best chance to thrive and engage effectively in learning.
